RESPON CINA TERHADAP PERGERAKAN MILITER AMERIKA SERIKAT DI DARWIN AUSTRALIA

The existence of the U.S. Military Base is a potential increase tension because it can not be denied that the proximity of military bases the Asia Pacific region which is geographically the Asia Pacific region is the area who has a significant value in the centers of the world and also be able to influence policy and strategic strength of a country that want to compete in this area. The Asia Pacific region is seen as the most suitable place to understand the importance of regionalism in building networks that are multilateral interaction. Several countries in the Asia Pacific region seem resigned to accept the decision or placed military bases in Australia, but not in China. China assumes no excessive effort behind the movement of the U.S. military than just military cooperation between the U.S. and Australia.
